

GEO 220 : Principles of Physical Geography

This course is an introduction to natural features of the earth. It concentrates on weather, climate, soil, and vegetation associations, on landforms and on the forces that have been active in shaping the earth's surface.

Credits 3

Theory Credit

3